

Fraser Valley

Social Worker, Population and Public Health

Serving communities within Metro Vancouver and the Fraser Valley, Fraser Health is one of Canada's largest and fastest growing health authorities. With over 1.8 million people living in our communities, we serve 1/3 of British Columbia's entire population with 33,000 dedicated professionals in our 12 hospitals and other facilities that expand from Burnaby to Hope.

We currently have an exciting new opportunity for you to bring your excellent work ethic as a dedicated Social Worker in Population and Public Health in the Fraser Health area. As we enter the recovery phase, the response to the COVID-19 pandemic will require ongoing vigilance, especially in the case and contact management – also known as contact tracing.

Build on your education & career experience as you:

- Conduct social work and assessments
- Provide clinical counseling services to patients and families
- Consult and collaborate with the interdisciplinary teams
- Participate in department or program-sponsored research
- Participate in program and community resource development activities

Qualifications

- Current registration with the BC College of Social Workers.
- Two (2) years' recent related experience in a complex health care environment such as a community or home health setting, or an equivalent combination of social work education, training and experience.
- Valid BC Driver's License and access to personal vehicle for business-related purposes.

Why you should join the Fraser Health Family:

- Career opportunities
- Education and professional development opportunities
- Four weeks of vacation to start and flexible leave options
- Competitive compensation and benefits packages, plus pension plan
- State-of-the-art facilities and technology
- Work/life balance
